

Bitte beachten Sie: Dieses Dokument wurde automatisch erstellt und ist kein Ersatz für das Originaldokument des Herstellers.

Product Datasheet

Recombinant Human SAA1 Protein (E. coli, N-6His) AMO-M59059

|                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Artikelname              | Recombinant Human SAA1 Protein (E. coli, N-6His)                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Artikelnummer            | AMO-M59059                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Hersteller Artikelnummer | M59059                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Alternativnummer         | AMO-M59059-10UG, AMO-M59059-50UG                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Hersteller               | Abmole Bioscience                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Kategorie                | Biochemikalien                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Produktbeschreibung      | Serum Amyloid A1 Protein (SAA1) is an acute phase apolipoprotein reactant that is produced predominantly by hepatocytes and is under the regulation of inflammatory cytokines. SAA may play a role in the immune system and facilitate the repair of injur... |
| Reinheit                 | >95%, Endotoxin < 1 EU/μg                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |